“ I found out this evening about Lazell's passing, and I was sorry to hear about it. Lazell was in my son Robert's generation, so I didn't get to know him personally, but I knew his Mother, Aunts, Uncles, and Grandparents, so I can identify with your loss. I have been living in Atlanta, Ga for the past 30 years, but I found out about Lazell after talking to Clarence Atkins. Doris you have my sympathy and may "G-D bless Lazell to enter the paradise, bless him for the good that he did and forgive him of his sins". Amin

“ A butterfly has a very difficult time to reach his full maturation in his life span. When a butterfly starts off as a caterpillar he is faced with adversity to survive in a very difficult world. Through this struggle he realizes that his end is only his beginning to become the beautiful creature that God intended him to be. The cocoon of uncertainty is a very position because he has to have faith that God is going to assist him in the process of becoming beautiful. Lazell is in the process of leaving his cocoon and now becoming the beautiful butterfly that God created him to become. He is in the process of metamorphosis to become someone's beautiful Angel and protector, we as the his family and friends must have faith and agree that our son, husband, father, brother and friend will always watch over us assisting God in protecting and guiding us into becoming the beautiful creatures that God created us to be.
