“ May the God of all comfort get you all through your terrible loss. It's sad when we lose a family member to death at such a young age. God's Word tells us at Isaiah 25:8 that death will soon be brought to nothing. We can look for a time when we won't have to grieve anymore. It can't change what has happened, but memories can still warm our hearts. I didn't know Margo well, just wanted to send my sympathy to let you know folks are thinking about you. Cathy Taylor

“ To the Reason, Casey Family: I send my deepest condolences for such a heartfelt pain. It hurts everyone when another building block in life that we all grew up to know and become acquainted with passes over. She will be missed and loved as if she remains amongst us. A beautiful person. Full of glee and joy even when illness approached. Now where do we turn? Where we always turn: to the Heavenly Father who has her under His wings. She no longer suffers, has to make doctors appointments. Needs someone to run an errand for her. She has found peace in the Lord and there is where she resides in the land of so many meaning known as heaven. I know I haven't seen Victoria, Cookie, Toni, or any of you for many years. It does not mean I do not pray for you and I hope that you all pray for me. We need each other. The circle is getting smaller. The members are becoming fewer. I cry so deeply within my heart and soul whenever someone who I grew up to know and became acquainted with and now God has called her home. My heart aches at this moment. May God forever bless her and keep her beneath His wings. I am as always. My deepest love and respect. Jackie Nevitt. 213-255-0905. email: beruchahlove@gmail.com. May God bless us all.
