“ *To the Family of Elizabeth Loftin:
I had the privilege of caring for Peaches, as her nurse, on several occasions that she visited our hospital. For those who knew her, it goes without saying that she was a very special young woman. Despite her pain and suffering, she always seemed to manage it with grace, dignity and a sweetness of spirit that was truly remarkable. Rarely did she ever complain!
I was very saddened to hear of Peaches' passing, but was comforted by the testimony that she had a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Please accept my deepest sympathy. My prayer is that you'll find comfort in knowing that you can see her again.##imported-begin##Annette Gipson##imported-end##*

“ I took care of Peaches many times over the last 2 years that I worked on GMU at Bronson; we talked about our faith, beliefs and values frequently. Peaches was a woman of strong convictions and faith and that came through even when she was feeling at her worst. I have been so blessed by Jesus to have her cross my path; she had such a gentle, compassionate nature that always shone through, no matter how she was feeling. She was loved by so many of the staff members on our unit; she will be greatly missed by them, but especially me. I know that she is sitting at the right hand of the Father, waiting for all of us to join her someday.##imported-begin##Karen Nichols R.N./GMU##imported-end##
