“ This one of his grandchildren(patience) we had a very close bond and I just want to say I miss u so much I know u were in a lot of pain and it was very hard to see. u will cry and when I get mad at my mom i will always call him cause makes me feel better and when my mom will drop me off at his house he will always have a activity to do and most of the times he will pick me up and we go to the park and have conversations he will tell me always get ur education and do good I love u and when he was in the hospital and my mom came crying at my school she said he didn't have long to live and when I got there they said he will barely talk and when I went in there all I see is that smile I love and miss and he said hey bookie and he gave me a hug that I miss and they said that was first he smile and I know I gave my grandfather strength to live longer there were some many times we almost lost him but we gave him strength but Nov 21 2018 10:30 he passed i spazed out like my heart never been the same but the day before me and my mom went to see him.he wasnt the same:(he was acting like the times when we almost lost him but this time he couldn't take all that pain no more so he told god"I'm ready"he didn't wanna go but he was ready and God receive it and made it come true we were lucky we had him for that long.Gone by never ever forgotten. One like=one Prayer 🙏
